GOING DOWN TO THE WIRE

The Final Draft - The Laws Drafting Sub-Committee have finally finished their five year endeavour of completely redrafting the laws of bridge.

Each of the semi-final matches in the Bermuda Bowl, Venice Cup and Senior Bowl is halfway through, and though the margins are of varying sizes, no team can claim victory with 48 deals left to play.

The largest point difference is in the Bermuda Bowl, where Norway stands 37 IMPs clear of the Netherlands. In the Venice Cup, Germany's lead over France is just 4.7 IMPs.

The first full day of play in the World Transnational Open Teams was on Tuesday. The leader after seven rounds was the team led by Victor Markowicz.

Championship Diary

Using the bulletin office's Grumpometer, we can reveal that yesterday Tacchi was grumpier than Senior – quite an achievement when you consider the caliber of the opposition.

We understand that the girls in Hooters wear a T-shirt that proclaims 'Delightfully tacky yet unrefined.'

We plan to get one made with a slight change: 'Delightfully Tacchi yet unrefined.'

Barry Rigal was in excellent form on yesterday's VuGraph. His comments included one where he speculated that if clubs were 6-0, the ruff would be unavoidable.

While on the subject of the VuGraph, there are frequent interruptions from mobile phones. This gives the audience a new game to play, 'Guess that ring tone.' So far the clear winner is The Lone Ranger Overture by William Tell. (Who was that masked commentator?)

A Captain, recovering from his team's elimination, delivered the following:

Strolling the Super Mall on Tuesday, I was overcome with the need to visit a washroom. This turned out to be easy to locate and well appointed, with one exception – no toilet paper! Then I realised I had my copy of the Daily Bulletin with me and, albeit reluctantly, I made the obvious sacrifice.

May I request that future editions be printed on somewhat softer paper?

There will be a captain's meeting for the eight qualifiers as soon as possible after Match 15.

Poland Seniors

At this level of play you can expect any error to be expensive, as witness this deal from the Senior Bowl quarter-final between Poland and Indonesia:

West led the ace of hearts for the two, ten and six.

Misreading his partner's card, the ten of hearts (that was probably an attempt to get a spade switch), West continued with the jack of hearts, and that was all the help declarer needed.

He ruffed in dummy, discarding a spade from hand, and took the club finesse. West won and belatedly switched to a spade. Declarer won with the ace, crossed to dummy with a trump (carefully retaining the precious two of diamonds) and took another club finesse. When that held, he cashed the ace of clubs, went to dummy with a trump, ruffed a club high and finally used the two of diamonds to cross to dummy's three and discard his losing spade on the established club.

That added another 400 and gave Poland 13 IMPs.

VENICE CUP

Quarter-Final - Session 6

France

by Brian Senior

While the vugraph and BBO audiences were following the dramatic events in the final set of the Italy v South Africa Bermuda Bowl quarter-final, the really exciting finish came in the Venice Cup match between France and USA 2. The Americans took a 1 IMP lead into the final 16-board set, 142-141, but it did not survive the first deal.

What would be your preferred action with the South hand over a 3♥ pre-empt on your right? Danièle Gaviard doubled and Catherine d'Ovidio responded 3NT, hoping not to be facing a minimum double.

Hjordis Eythorsdottir (Disa) led the ten of hearts to dummy's jack. D'Ovidio played a low spade off the table and Rozanne Pollack went in with the jack. She switched to the two of diamonds to Disa's king. Disa cashed the ace of hearts and there the play record ceases. D'Ovidio is credited with nine tricks for +400, which is difficult to achieve from here, whatever the continuation.

Kerri Sanborn preferred to overcall 3♠ and played there. Sylvie Willard led her heart to the ace and Bénédicte Cronier gave her a heart ruff. Willard switched to ace and another diamond, and there were two trump tricks to come; down two for -100 and 11 IMPs to France, who moved into the lead at 152-142.

Disa opened a mini no trump with the East cards and this was passed around to d'Ovidio, who doubled. When that got back to Pollack, she ran to 2♣, and now d'Ovidio bid her spades, raised by Gaviard, who clearly expected a stronger hand for the double-then-bid combination. Still, all was not lost, as 3♠ can be made thanks to the very favourable trump position.

Disa led the queen of hearts. D'Ovidio, who didn't believe in the lucky spade position, chose to win in hand and play ace then queen of spades. Pollack won and switched to a top club, but switched back to hearts in time to establish the defensive winner there, and they came to one trick in each red suit as well as two clubs and a spade; down one for -100.

Cronier did not have the option of opening a mini no trump, so passed and heard her opponents bid freely to 2♠. Again the lead was the queen of hearts. Cheri Bjerkan won in dummy to lead a spade to the queen, followed by a low diamond. Cronier went in with the king of diamonds and returned the suit, won in dummy to repeat the spade finesse. Bjerkan drew a third round of trumps and made nine tricks for +140 and 6 IMPs to USA 2; 148-152.

There were three flat boards, then France extended its lead on this next deal:

After identical starts to the two auctions, Disa responded 3♥ to the reopening double, while Cronier jumped to 4♥. Over 3♥, Gaviard competed with 4♣, buying the contract.

Against 4♣, Disa led a heart to Pollack's king. Pollack tried to cash a second heart, ruffed, and d'Ovidio led a diamond to the king, then a trump back to hand to lead a second diamond. Disa won and switched to a spade; down one for minus 50.

Sanborn led the ♣2 against 4♥. Bjerkan won with the king and switched to the ♦9. Cronier won with the ace and drew two rounds of trumps, then led a diamond to the jack and queen. She won the heart return in hand and played a spade to the queen, then led the ♦10 to establish the eight for a spade discard; ten tricks for +620 and 11 IMPs to France, ahead now by 163-148.

Board 87 was flat, but there was a major swing on this deal. Pollack opened as West and Disa raised directly to 4♥ with the East hand, which bullied Gaviard into bidding 5♦, doubled on the way out by Disa. Pollack led ace then ten of hearts to Disa's king. She switched to the king of clubs and, having seen East turn up with so much already, Gaviard won and laid down the ace of diamonds in the hope of dropping a singleton king. On the lie of the cards, she still had a diamond, a spade and a club to lose; down three for -500.

Not altogether surprisingly, Willard did not open as West. Cronier opened in third seat, but the whole auction was a more gentle affair and the music eventually stopped with Sanborn declaring 4♦. Willard led the five of clubs to the jack, queen and ace, and Sanborn played her spade. Willard ducked, so one of declarer's four top losers had disappeared as dummy's king scored. South continued with the  $\diamond J$  for a finesse and a second diamond to the king and ace. Now Sanborn exited with a heart. Cronier won with the  $\heartsuit K$  and played back a spade, on which Sanborn discarded her remaining heart. Willard won with the ace and returned the nine of clubs, but Sanborn could cover that and her eight won the next club; ten tricks for +130 and 12 IMPs to USA 2, closing to 160-163.

France gained 3 IMPs on Board 89 for an extra undertrick in 3NT and, with Board 90 being flat, led by 166-160 with six deals to play.

Disa was left to play in 2 $\heartsuit$  on the lead of the jack of diamonds to the queen and king. D'Ovidio switched to the king of spades, then led a low spade to the ace, and Gaviard reverted to diamonds, dummy winning with the ace. There was no way to avoid the loss of two trumps, a club and a spade, so Disa was down two for -100.

Sanborn/Bjerkan achieved a great result for USA 2 when Bjerkan was unwilling to go quietly over Willard's 2 $\heartsuit$  raise and competed via a good/bad 2NT. With a real maximum for her INT call, Sanborn now drove to game. Willard led a heart to the queen and ace, and Sanborn immediately played ace and another club. She ducked the heart return to the nine, but was allowed a second heart trick shortly after and cashed out for nine tricks; +400 and 7 IMPs to USA 2. The Americans had the lead back at 167-166 with five deals to play.

Board 92 was flat, then the lead changed hands again.

Three no trump was the contract at both tables, but from different sides of the table, which made an important difference.

Disa was declarer for USA 2 and the lead was the  $\heartsuit 9$ . She rose with dummy's ace and played ace of clubs and a club to the king to confirm that she had five tricks there, then led a diamond to the queen. When that held, she cashed out and had nine tricks for +600.

Willard declared for France and received the lead of the  $\heartsuit 3$  round to her ten. She led a spade at trick two and dummy's queen scored. Now a diamond to the queen gave her eleven tricks for +660 and 2 IMPs to France, who retook the lead by 168-167.

Whether East opened 1♣ or a Precision 2♣, South over-called and declared 4♠.

Pollack led the ♣2, so Gaviard ruffed, then ran the queen of spades. Pollack ducked that, so Gaviard played a second spade to the ten and king. Now Pollack played a second club to the ace and a club was returned. The ♣K was declarer's ninth trick and the run of the spades squeezed East in three suits. Despite the four-one heart split, declarer could not be prevented from coming to a tenth trick; +420.

The first three tricks were the same at the other table, but Willard switched to the jack of diamonds on winning with the ♠K. When that held, she switched to the nine of hearts, which Sanborn won in hand with the ace. With no club winner, Sanborn had insufficient pressure on East and had to go one down for -50 and 10 IMPs to France. The lead was up to 11, 178-167, with just two boards to play.

Identical auctions led, of course, to identical contracts. Both Easts led the jack of clubs and both Wests won with the ace.

Pollack returned a second club to the king, and d'Ovidio played the queen of diamonds to Pollack's king. Pollack switched to a low heart to the queen, king and ace. D'Ovidio took the ruffing diamond finesse and could get rid of one of her heart losers; ten tricks for +170.

Willard switched to the ♥9 at trick two. Bjerkan played low from hand and won with dummy's ace. She played a diamond, and Willard won and played another heart. The defence took its heart tricks and declarer had the rest; +140 but 1 IMP to France. The score was 179-167 with one board to play.

The Americans reached the slightly sub-par slam, while France stopped a level lower. With the club position as it was, there was no guess and both declarers made twelve tricks; +480 to France but +980 to USA 2 and 11 IMPs. But not enough! France had won by 179-178 IMPs. Those late overtricks in 3NT and 2♠ had proved to be crucial. Had the final deal been N/S vulnerable, USA 2 would have gained 13 instead of 11 and then they would have been the single-IMP winners.

Quarter-Final - Session 2

Italy

South Africa

by Phillip Alder

After the first session, South Africa led Italy by 48.7 IMPs to 7. Into the Open Room came Fulvio Fantoni and Claudio Nunes to play North-South against Tim Cope and Glen Holman. The Closed Room saw Norberto Bocchi and Giorgio Duboin East-West against Chris Bosenberg and Neville Eber.

On the first board, East-West had two 5-2 minor-suit fits, both of which could be held to eight tricks. Italy played in three diamonds and South Africa in three clubs. It was harder to defend against diamonds, so Italy gained 4 IMPs for plus 110 and plus 50.

Over the next five boards, Italy gained one overtrick IMP. These did include a well-bid six clubs by the East-West pairs.

Then came the seventh deal:

The North-South notrump range made a difference here. In the closed room, where Bosenberg started with a strong notrump, East settled for four diamonds. But when North in the open room had to open one club, because one notrump would have been weak, East went the whole hog and bid five diamonds.

A spade lead would have held declarer to ten tricks, but both Souths led a club.

Minus 150 and plus 600 gave South Africa 10 IMPs and the lead by 46.7.

An extra undertrick gave Italy 5 IMPs; then ...

- (a) Do not lead a heart (unless your suit is very strong)

In the open room, Cope naturally led a low heart, which declarer won with his jack. Fantoni played a club to the dummy, then called for the diamond king. West won with his ace and shifted to a low spade, declarer putting in his jack. When that brought out the ace and the clubs were two-two, North had eleven tricks.

In the closed room, though, Bocchi, partly aided by his partnership's interesting approach to the double of the three-heart cue-bid, found a brilliant opening lead: the spade ten.

Declarer won with his jack, led a club to dummy's ace, and played the diamond king to force out West's ace. Now Duboin led the spade queen, and understandably declarer got this wrong, covering with his king. Four spade tricks later, the contract was down one.

Plus 400 and plus 100 gave Italy 11 IMPs.

Those points were recouped with interest on the very next deal:

Nunes, not anticipating a slam, went for the spade game, which was made with two overtricks when the club king dropped under North's ace.

The South Africans had an easy sequence when Eber supported clubs. East led the heart ten (Rusinow), covered by the queen, king and ace. Unable to reach the dummy for the club finesse, declarer cashed his trump ace, with gratifying results from his point of view. Now Bosenberg collected an overtrick.

Minus 680 and plus 1390 gave South Africa 12 IMPs.

Almost every table duplicated the Italian auction. But Cope looked for more, driving into a thin six diamonds.

Three notrump came home with 12 tricks. Against six diamonds, North led the spade two. Declarer ducked this to South's king, won the next trick with dummy's spade ace, crossed to his hand with a trump and cashed his top hearts. His plan was to enter dummy with a trump and to ruff a heart, hoping to bring the queen down. Then, if she did not appear, to take a position. But when the heart queen dropped, Holman drew trumps and claimed, having two spades, four hearts, five diamonds and one club.

Minus 490 and plus 920 was worth 10 IMPs to South Africa, now ahead by 55.7 IMPs.

Homeward Bound

If you are staying at one of the designated hotels you can get a shuttle to the airport on Sunday 14 October. You must register at the hospitality desk no later than 12.00 noon on Friday 12 October.

It was suggested that a club lead would probably have beaten the contract. Declarer could duck that trick and catch South in a black-suit squeeze, but as Hans-Olof Hal-lén pointed out, when the heart queen drops, declarer could pitch a club and a spade from his hand, cash the club ace, and ruff a club. When the king falls, West has twelve tricks via one spade, four hearts, five diamonds and two clubs.

Italy gained 6 IMPs on a double partscore swing. Then there was this deal:

Cope chose a good moment to overlook his three-card spade support, getting his side into the good six-club contract. Then, when his opponents reached six clubs, South gambled with a lead-directing double. North started with a spade, but declarer knew to play low from the dummy and made his contract, suffering just that trick-one ruff. If South had not doubled and North had found the same lead, declarer might have risen with dummy's ace.

In the Italian auction, Bocchi asked questions and learned about his partner's hand. Then some control-bids led to the inferior slam, and some would say it got its just deserts. North led a diamond. Declarer won and ran the spade queen, after which Duboin could not avoid two spade losers.

Note that Bosenberg did well not to double. First, the Italians might have run to six notrump and made that easily, with two spades, three hearts, two diamonds and five clubs. Second, Duboin might have made six spades, starting trumps by leading the eight (or two) from his hand and picking up the suit for the loss of only one trick.

Plus 1090 and plus 50 gave South Africa 15 IMPs.

After the last board was flat, South Africa had the lead by 59.7 IMPs (95.7-36) after one-third of the match. Would it be enough?

Quarter-Final - Session 6

Fall of Eagles

by Mark Horton

Fall of Eagles is the BBC's stunning 1974 dramatisation of the declining years and final collapse of three of the most powerful European dynasties – the Hapsburgs, Romanovs and Hohenzollerns – between the mid-19th century and the end of the First World War. The series focuses on the tempestuous reigns of Emperor Franz Josef of Austria-Hungary, Tsar Nicholas II of Russia and Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany.

If South Africa, leading by 152.7 – 115 IMPs (which was rounded up to 153 on the online scoreboard) could maintain their lead over the reigning Bermuda Bowl champions, another mighty European house would be toppled.

Apart from the packed VuGraph audience, there were more than 6,000 spectators following every bid and play on BBO.

If the South African players and supporters were hoping for a few quiet deals to calm the nerves, they were quickly disavowed:

Three no trump had no realistic chance.

East led the ten of hearts. Declarer won in dummy and cashed the ace of spades. His hopes may have risen when East's ten appeared, but West won the next spade with the jack and switched to a diamond. Here South preferred to overcall and it turned out badly because when North raised, West had enough, especially at the state of the match, to venture a double.

West led his heart. East won and returned the ten of hearts for West to ruff. A diamond to East's king was followed by another heart ruff, the ace of diamonds, a diamond ruff and a heart. When the smoke had cleared the contract was four down, -800 and 13 IMPs to Italy – just the start they needed.

They picked up three more on the next deal, but then handed back half of the points they had recovered on the following board:

South was a spade short for his weak two, and North's more aggressive raise gave East/West an opportunity they did not miss.

It seems from the explanations written North that he thought 4♠ promised a void, so when South showed a key card in response to 4NT, North thought he could drive on the grand slam.

The opening bid that was the prelude to the disaster on the previous deal appeared again. It was systemically possible for North to be weaker than 10-13 in third position and that (and perhaps the result on the previous deal) may have influenced the subsequent bidding. (No double of 3♥ from either player.)

3♥ doubled would have been a bloody affair – and quite possibly a match winner.

South led the jack of diamonds, putting declarer up the ace and playing a heart to the king. If South had won and simply played another diamond, four down was pretty much certain, but South ducked, which ended up costing his side a trick.

Declarer played the king of clubs, and North won and switched to the king of spades. South won the next spade and played a diamond. North won with the ten, cashed the queen of spades and played the king of diamonds, ruffed by the ten and overruffed. That was three down, -150.

Claudio Nunes, under the microscope in the VuGraph

Here it was North/South who went past their safety level. East led his spade, declarer putting up dummy's ace and playing a diamond.

West found the difficult play of the ten of diamonds, and North covered, East winning with the king. A trump switch now would hold declarer to eight tricks, but that was a terribly difficult play to find.

East returned a diamond and declarer ruffed, trumped a club and played a diamond. East ruffed in with the seven, forcing dummy's ace. Declarer ruffed another club and played another diamond. East ruffed with the eight and played a trump, so West had to score a spade and a diamond for one down, +100 and 5 IMPs to Italy, reducing the margin to 0.7 of an IMP.

Facing the 12-14 no trump, North enquired and then bid an invitational 2NT.

West led the three of hearts (cue cheering from a certain faction in the audience) and East's jack forced the ace. Declarer played a club, and West went in with the ace, cashed the king of diamonds and played the ten of hearts. Declarer's goose was cooked, down one, -100.

Not for the first time in the set, the difference in no trump ranges produced a swing.

West led the four of hearts and as before South took the jack with the ace. He played a diamond, West winning and playing the ten of hearts. The defenders cashed three heart tricks and West switched to the three of clubs. Declarer won with dummy's queen, cashed the top spades in hand and played a club. East had followed to the first club with the jack, so West took a shot at beating the contract by playing low. Declarer was not fooled; he put up the queen and had an overtrick, +120.

6 IMPs to South Africa ahead by 6.7.

Would the last deal offer any hope to Italy?

On another day there might have been a club ruff, or two club losers. But this was not Italy's day – that belonged to the magnificent South African team.

There were joyous scenes outside the VuGraph playing room – one abiding memory will be that of a smiling Giorgio Duboin congratulating his opponents. He had lost this time, but as one of last week's distinguished visitors to Shanghai might have said, "I'll be back."

VENICE CUP

Semi-Final - Session I

China Global Times

by Brent Manley

China Global Times and USA 1 started play virtually tied in their semi-final Venice Cup match. The Chinese did, however, have a carryover lead of 3 IMPs based on their round-robin results.

China won 2 IMPs on the first board, but the lead didn't last long.

Stansby described her partner's 4♣ bid as a slam try in hearts. 4♠ was just what Rosenberg wanted to hear, so she simply checked for key cards and bid the grand slam after finding out her partner held at least the top three hearts.

That put the spotlight on Ming Sun, who could have defeated the contract by leading her singleton spade. With the break in hearts, declarer needs an entry to hand after cashing a high heart and leading to dummy's ♥10. After a spade lead, however, there is no entry to the West hand and the contract must fail.

Sun, however, led a trump, and it was quickly over. Stansby won the opening lead in hand, played a heart to dummy's 10, and returned to hand with the ♠K, claiming at that point for plus 2210. If the Chinese pair in the closed room stopped in a small slam, that was going to be a 13-IMP swing. It was even more than that.

China got some of that back on the next deal.

Perhaps not noticing the vulnerability, Sun boldly started the bidding at the three level on a less-than-robust suit. Rosenberg did not push for game despite her fine hand. Sun led a low club, taken by Wang with the ace. Wang played the ♦K to the jack and ace. The ♠A was followed by another spade, ducked by South. Stansby won with the ♠Q, noted the 4-1 split, then played a club to the king. She followed with a diamond ruff, two clubs, pitching hearts from dummy, then led a heart to dummy's ace and played dummy's last diamond. Declarer had to make her ♠J whatever South did. That was plus 140.

Gu's 1♣ opening and rebid of 1NT showed 17-19 high-card points, so Zhang was always going to at least try for game. Hansa Narasimhan led a low trump to the king and ace. Gu cashed the ♦A and ruffed a diamond, returned to hand with the ♥Q, and ruffed her last diamond. She took the losing spade finesse, but there were only two other tricks to lose from there – the high trump and the ♣A. Plus 420 was worth 7 IMPs to China. Another small swing went to China on the next deal.

That's a lot of bidding with the East-West cards. A trump lead would have been devastating for declarer, but Wang – strangely reluctant to raise her partner's overcall – started with a low heart. Sun falsecarded with the ♥K, continuing with the ♥A. Rosenberg refused to ruff, pitching a spade from dummy, and Sun switched to a trump after long thought. Rosenberg won in dummy, cashed the ♣A and ruffed a club, then ruffed a heart, probably expecting the ♥Q to drop based on the play to that point. When the heart honor did not appear and clubs did not break, Rosenberg resorted to the spade finesse. When that lost, she was one down – still better than most declarers who played in that contract in the three events.

Because Gu's 1♦ could have been based on a doubleton, the nine-card fit was not uncovered and Levitina was left to play in 3♥. Gu led the ♦K, overtaken by Zhang to play the ♥10. Levitina won with the ♥A and played the ♣Q, aiming to get some tricks going in that suit. Gu ruffed the club, however, and played another diamond. Levitina ruffed in dummy and played the ♣K, ducked by Zhang. Gu ruffed again and exited with the ♥J. When Levitina played a spade, Gu won the ace and cashed a diamond for one down and 4 IMPs to China.

On board 8, Stansby showed her declarer-play skills.

It's curious that Gu did not consider the East hand worth even a raise to 2NT. As the play went, it was just as well.

Levitina started with a heart, taken in dummy with the king. Declarer cashed the ♥J and called for a low club from dummy. Narasimhan won with the ♣J and pushed a spade through declarer's hand. The ♠Q went to Levitina's king, and the ♦9 went to the queen and king. Another spade was taken by declarer's ace. A club went to North's king and a spade cleared the suit. Declarer could do no more than cash her hearts for seven tricks, plus 90 and a 7-IMP loss.

USA 1 was in a position to earn a swing, but the contract got away from Narasimhan. Zhang led a diamond, which went to the king and queen. Another singleton honor showed up with Narasimhan played a heart from dummy to her queen. The ♣J was covered by the queen and ace, and declarer returned to hand with the ♣10 to play the ♦A and ♦10, establishing the 9 for her ninth trick. West won with the ♦J and played a low spade from her ace. Narasimhan won with the ♠Q in hand and cashed the ♦9. That gave her seven tricks. All she had to do was to cash her two winning clubs for plus 600. She must have miscounted her tricks, however, because she exited with a heart to East's ace. West pitched her low spade on this trick and had good diamonds to cash when her partner put her in with the ♠A. That was minus 200 and 8 IMPs to China.

The session ended with Rosenberg making plus 110 in 3♣ in the open room, while Zhang took six tricks in a hopeless 3NT for minus 300. The Americans took the opening set 47-22.
