

We are pleased to announce BridgeHands is now offering Bridge players a free poll to gauge your Bridge Bidding and Play decisions. Here's your chance to compare your response with other Bridge players. We will regularly add additional survey polls so vote early and often! Well, not quite - sorry, each contestant may only register one vote per polling item.

On any of our polling questions, you may respond to the polling question at the following locations (we recommend #2):

1. Our home page (scroll down, lower right)
2. Our BridgeBlog "Polling You" category
3. Our polling survey weblink

See below for details.

Good luck and choose wisely,
BridgeHands (click here for PDF document)

Polling You!

Welcome to our Bridge polling survey. Here's your chance to answer the polling question on Bridge bidding and play, immediately comparing your answers against other contestants here at BridgeHands. And while the most popular polling response vote

In This Issue

Details: Polling You!

Featured Article

Everything to gain - nothing to lose

Featured Article

It's gratifying to know how other Bridge players think about bidding and play, particularly when our views and decisions are in concert with the mainstream.

However, occasionally we are surprised that our viewpoints are contrary to the majority of the pack.

Bidding and play survey polls offer us an excellent way to measure our responses against our colleagues.

may not be the best Bridge bid or play, we hope you will enjoy comparing your response to others.

Once you have selected your response and press the "Vote" button, immediately you will be able to compare your result with others. Haven't voted and ready to go? Wiggle your fingers, loosen your shoulders, take a deep breath...

Great - click here to vote at our BridgeBlog

After completing your response, you are not permitted to register multiple votes using your same web browser for the current poll. At some point, the BridgeHands webmaster will close out each poll, allowing late arrivals to see the final voting tally. But don't worry - we promise to regularly have fresh new polls for you to register your vote to new questions!

Incidentally, our BridgeHands home page will always display the most recent polling question. To see our entire listing of current and prior polling questions, please use the above link \(BridgeBlog category "Polling You" on actual webpage menu bar\).

About Us

BridgeHands - our goal is to offer you enlightening, entertaining, and education Bridge instruction that's fun for everyone. First came our comprehensive website, then our free eMagazine newsletters and BridgeBlog with online audio interviews. And now in addition to this free polling survey, our video instructional lessons are right around the corner - coming soon to a theater near you!

Genuine Coupon

Get Out Of Serious Trouble

Not satisfied with your responses? Find your response doesn't compare favorably with others? Worse yet, does your partner's responses always seem to follow the mainstream while your polling selections drift away from the majority. Not to worry. Next time you find yourself in the hot seat with your partner, present this "Get Out of Serious Trouble" coupon and you're good to go!

Offer Expires: Within one hour of printout or the ink dries, whichever comes sooner.
Void where prohibited by partnership agreement.