Four New Englanders win first championship

They grabbed the lead at the halfway point of the final day of play and held on for victory in the North American Swiss Teams. The winners, all from New England: seated, Dan Colatosti, left, and Bill Hunter; standing, John Malley and Shome Mukherjee. Leading by only 8 Victory Points going into the final round, the Malley team lost but the other contenders could not take advantage. Malley's final margin was 4.8 VPs.

Bramley foursome scores tight win in Reisinger

The team captained by Bart Bramley, seemingly destined to win the Reisinger Board-a-Match Teams, took the lead early in the last day of play and held on for a tight victory in one of the toughest events on the bridge calendar.

Bramley was playing with Sidney Lazard, Steve Garner and Howard Weinstein. Their final score of 33.29 was 1.09 ahead of runners-up George Rosenkranz, Eddie Wold and four Polish stars -- Marcin Lesniewski, Marek Szymanowski, Adam Zmudzinski and Cezary Balicki.

"This was for Edgar," said Bramley after the presentation of the Reisinger trophy. Bramley was referring to the late Edgar Kaplan, who, along with Norman Kay, were originally part of the team. Kaplan died in September after a long battle with cancer. Kay has retired from competition.
