Tough to beat: Berkowitz, Cohen define consistency

In a major event such as the Blue Ribbon Pairs, the tension at some tables is palpable. Grim determination seems to be the facial expression of the day. The Blue Ribbon is, after all, one of the toughest events on the bridge calendar. You can't relax for a moment.

So how do you explain the atmosphere at the table where David Berkowitz and Larry Cohen are sitting North-South on the first day of the Blue

At this table, you see Berkowitz holding his head, listing to the side in his chair as he tries to make a tough bidding decision.

"Don't ever play poker for a living," says Cohen. The remark brings laughter and eases what little tension there was.

In another round, Cohen lays down a 13-point dummy after Berkowitz opens the bidding. They're in a part score. When play has concluded, an opponent asks why Cohen didn't bid more. Nodding toward Berkowitz, Cohen says, "He doesn't play them so well."

Berkowitz laughs. He knows the real reason is that the auction told Cohen some of his high-card points were worthless and that bad breaks in suits could be expected. As it was, Berkowitz went down in the part score because of the bad breaks.

Cohen allows that he isn't sure all the joviality is a good thing -- and don't think for a moment that he and Berkowitz aren't very serious about the game -- but it's characteristic of their partnership, one of the strongest in the world and cer-

Turner tops Murphy in Senior Knockouts

The team captained by Donald Turner, seeded seventh, eliminated No.2 James Murphy in a quarterfinal match in the Senior Knockouts yesterday. TURNER took the lead at the outset and led at the half by 25. The second half was nearly even, and TURNER scored a 126-91 triumph. Playing with Turner were Liane Turner, Natalie Hertz, Dan Hertz, John Gustafson and Helen Gustafson.

No. 1 Michael Levine had to play only 48 boards -- the team captained by Alvin Levy withdrew after the third quarter trailing, 171-62. Playing with Levine are Zeke Jabbour, Fred Hamilton, Arnie Fisher, Tom Sanders and Chuck Said.

The match between Ken Barbour and Marc Low was excruciatingly close for three quarters, but BARBOUR really poured it on over the final 16 boards, outscoring LOW 60-7. On the Barbour Continued on page 6

Player of the Year still up for grabs

Paul Soloway increased his lead slightly in the 1998 Player of the Year race, but the issue is likely to be settled in the Reisinger Board-a-Match Teams this weekend. The winner is the player who earns the most masterpoints in nationally rated events in a calendar year.

Soloway's lead in the annual competition had shrunk to about 14 masterpoints after the Life Master Open Pairs, but Soloway earned nearly 94 masterpoints for finishing second in the Open Board-a-Match Teams. That widened the gap to about 52 over David Berkowitz, also in the high overall in the Continued on page 6

Bridge is moving toward Olympics

World Bridge Federation representative Dan Morse said, "The International Olympic Committee Grand Prix bridge tournament was a great step forward for bridge." ACBL CEO David Silber said, "The Grand Prix is the most tangible evidence we have of the progress bridge is making to become an Olympic sport."

Four members of the team that represented the United States at the tournament in Lausanne in September were presented their third-place medals last night in ACBL President Richard Anderson's suite. The Americans finished only two Victory Points behind cowinners Brazil and France. Accepting medals from Anderson were Eric Rodwell, Bob Hamman, Jeff Meckstroth and Morse. Morse was supposed to the be non-playing captain, but Seymon Deutsch had to cancel at the last minute because of a death in the family. Morse stepped in to partner Bobby Wolff. The sixth member of the team was Paul Soloway.

Directors surprise Hughes, Graft

What do retiring tournament directors remember best? No question about it -- their fellow directors. Often directors stay in the business because they enjoy the camaraderie. That's the way it has been for Brooks Hughes and Larry Graft, who are working their last NABC here. Both are looking forward to retirement, but they also look back on fond memories.

Last night they had another memory to add to their collection. Their fellow directors surprised Brooks and Larry with a going-away party after the evening session. They shared a special

Calling the Director

Martha McGhee, co-chair of the 1998 Orlando NABC, was Intermediate/Newcomer chairman at the 1992 NABC. This article appeared in the Daily Bulletin at that tournament.

Call the who ...? The Director! It's okay to call the director. In fact, if you don't, you may lose your right to call him later if you are damaged.

The director is the one who sold you an entry, the one who passed out the boards, the one who passed out the hand records and said, "Duplicate, please." The director is the one who organized the players and the boards so that everything runs smoothly at the right time, the right speed and the right direction.

The director is the one you need help from if and when an irregularity happens at your table. The director gives rulings pertaining to the "Laws of Duplicate Contract Bridge."

In order for the conditions of the game to be fair, everyone must follow the same rules. The director is familiar with these rules and is responsible for seeing that they are correctly applied.

The director is also the one who calls the rounds when it is time for you to meet your new opponents.

The director puts the results of each board into the computer and posts the computer printout of results after each session.

When you need a director, raise your hand and call out "Director, please" -- loudly enough for him to hear but not so loudly that it disturbs the other players. When the Director arrives at your table, he will listen to what happened and explain to the players the ruling that pertains to the irregularity.

Some rulings have several options. If you don't understand them fully, don't hesitate to ask for them to be repeated.

Since the conditions at each table must be duplicated as much as possible, all the players must adhere to the same set of rules. The Director's main objective is to make the game as fair as possible for all the players involved while ensuring that everyone has an enjoyable time.

Irregularities that may happen at your table for which you must call the director: a lead out of turn, an insufficient bid, a revoke, a card missing from a hand, a bid or pass out of turn, failure to Alert an artificial bid, changes of call, disagreements of tricks won, claims with trumps outstanding or disputed claims, bidding errors, etc.

The Director is your friend. Do not hesitate to call him or her. In fact, if you don't call the Director, you may have lost the right to call him later when you discover you have been damaged.

came up at a few tables. Note that West passed originally, then showed long diamonds.

On a diamond lead West has to be very careful to cash only two diamonds (the ace and king look best), then shift to a trump, and not play a minor suit. Otherwise, declarer can ruff the third diamond himself if necessary. But the heart shift at trick three forces declarer to guess the hearts while he still does not have enough information to get it right with confidence. If given the chance, declarer can lead another diamond and discover that West had all three top diamonds. That means there's no room for the $\P K$, so there is no point in finessing. It's safe to lay down the $\P A$ and, as it happens, you drop the $\P K$ offside.

Like the old days

By Eddie Kantar

Edgar Kaplan would have been proud of his "forever" partner Norman Kay on this deal from the second final session of the Open Board-a-Match Teams. Then again, Kaplan would have expected no less.

After winning the opening lead of the $\mathbf{\Phi}Q$, Norman led a low diamond to the 8 and queen. He won the heart shift with dummy's ace and led the $\mathbf{\Phi}J$ to the ace, felling the king and the kibitzers. He eventually made six after ruffing a spade in dummy and drawing trump.

And just how did Norman know to make this play? Well, it was all because East failed to play the ♦9, a card he was known to hold, the second time the suit was led. When East played the 6 on the second diamond, Kay figured he started with either 9-6-3 or K-9-6-3. If the K-9-6-3, West, with a singleton diamond, probably would have raised to 3♠ preemptively instead of bidding only 2♠.

Edgar is surely smiling.

Making six?

If you look at the East-West cards, you would figure that playing notrump will NOT be a success. On a club lead the defense can surely establish seven winners one way or another with ease. Right? So making six does not sound so exciting — well, it all depends.

When Mark Feldman and I took on David Berkowitz and Larry Cohen, the auction went:

West North East South

1♥ Pass 1NT All Pass

1NT was semi-forcing, and 4-5-2-2 is one of the shapes with which we pass 1NT.

Can you blame David for leading a low spade? The queen won and Larry ducked the ◆K. He was rather surprised (to say the least) when David pitched the ◆8, then the ◆5 on the next diamond as Larry won his ace. Of course the defense can cash out now, but Larry tried a heart. Mark won, ran the diamonds, then squeezed South in the majors for plus 240. Making six notrump!

Good result needed; good result found

John Wong of Los Angeles and Lenny Ernst of Las Vegas were trailing in their morning knockout match and knew they needed a big swing.

A 4-3 trump suit. The ∇Q is missing. No side suit runs. Not exactly a percentage slam. But the final decision about a slam depends on whether or not it makes.

Wong won the opening trump lead with the 10, cashed the ♣A and ruffed a club. He closed his eyes and led a heart to the 10. When he opened his eyes - no queen. So he ruffed another club with the ace and was happy to see that the suit broke 4-3. He led his last diamond to dummy, drew the last trumps and claimed -- dummy was good. On top of everything else, Wong had to reverse the dummy!

Stitching time

Mike Isaacs of London noticed the story about the grand slam bid by Henry Bethe and Varis Carey in the first qualifying session of the Life Master Open Pairs. These were the hands:

Dlr: West

KQ 9 8 4

V10 8 6 2

VQ J

No doubt Isaacs and his partner, Rob Kane, also of London, would have reached the cold 7NT (as did Bethe and Carey) if left to themselves, but West threw a spanner in the works by opening the bidding with a weak 2♠ bid. East compounded the larceny by raising to 3♠. Kane doubled with his rock and Isaacs, naturally, sat for it.

North-South managed to collect 1100, but it was a cold zero -- every other pair reached at least 6♣ (1390) or 6NT (1470).

Isaacs' comment on the super-light 2♠ bid: "It got us all stitched up."

Nicely done, Joey

Rich DeMartino dropped by the Daily Bulletin office to tell of an act by Joey Silver that he considered exemplary. As is common when Joey is around, there was quite a bit of chatting going on as the bidding started. DeMartino's partner opened 2 and Silver passed while still chatting. DeMartino also passed, then realized what he had done. Silver said, "Don't be silly. Just pick it up and make your call."

How they do it

Have you ever wondered how the expert players take so many tricks? You can get an idea by following Eddie Wold's line of reasoning on this deal from the second final session of the Life Master Open Pairs. Wold was playing with George Rosenkranz.

Dlr: V	Vest ♠5 4

	Wold		Rosenkranz
1♣	1♥	3♣ (1)	4♣
Pass	4♥	All Pass
(1) Wea	k.

Wold's 1♥ overcall might seem scary, but it often works when holding so many of a suit bid on your right.

Here is how Wold worked out the distribution in both opponents' hands at trick one:

East led the ♣2, and since East-West were using third- and fifth-best leads, Wold knew that his left-hand opponent had five clubs (he would hardly have made a jump raise with three-card support). That meant West had three clubs.

Wold knew the spades were 4-4 because West didn't open $1 \spadesuit$, as he would have done with five, and East didn't bid $1 \spadesuit$ over $1 \heartsuit$, as he would have done with five or more spades.

So Wold knew that West had four spades and three clubs. That brought Wold to diamonds, of which West had to hold exactly three. Why? Because if West held four diamonds, he would have opened 1, not 1. Could West have only two diamonds? No, because he was known to have exactly three clubs and exactly four spades. If he had four spades, three clubs and two diamonds, he would have to have four hearts -- and that was impossible. Wold was playing a 10-card heart fit.

So Wold knew that West's shape was 4-3-3-3. With his good heart spots and dummy entries, Wold could easily play the heart suit for no losers.

Wold discarded a low diamond from dummy on the opening club lead rather than ruffing. West won the ♣A and continued with the ♠Q to dummy's ace. Wold followed with the ♥J and was disappointed when West covered. Making the rest easy.

For making six, Wold earned his side 68 out of 77 matchpoints.

Board highlights

October has been designated as ACBL Club Recognition Month. Clubs may hold up to a maximum of three unit-rated games during this month. However, the number of such games may not exceed the number of sanctioned sessions in a week.

Invitational clubs may award .80 of a gold point to section top winners in the annual Instant Matchpoint Game. This applies, however, only to sanctioned games with no masterpoint limitations.

The director-in-charge may require a player to enter a flight, strat or bracket above that dictated by his masterpoint holding if the member is deemed to have equivalent bridge experience. The DIC also may require a non-member to enter a flight, strat or bracket equivalent to that player's experience. In addition, the DIC may require an entrant from another country to play in Flight A if a lower status is not confirmed by that player's bridge organization.

The American Bridge Association is invited to send one team to compete in the North American final of each flight of the Grand National Teams in 1999. The players for Flights B and C must not be over the masterpoint limit for the respective flights using the "two ABA points equals one ACBL point" formula. Any ACBL points must also be added to the converted ABA points. An ABA Life Master will not be permitted to play in Flight C.

Management has been authorized to implement a cooperative Headquarters/unit marketing program that (a) provides increased financial incentives to units for achieving improvements in unit membership trends; (b) defines zero-cost (or incidental cost) marketing requirements to be met by each unit to continue to receive membership rebates from Headquarters; and (c) provides suggestions and materials to help execute those requirements.

Non-Life Masters and Life Masters who are not Life Members who fail to renew their membership may receive credit for points earned while not a member upon rejoining and paying the appropriate fee that is the lesser of (a) $1 per point or fraction thereof, or (b) the payment for each year of lapsed membership or fraction thereof.

Management is being asked to develop a certification statement concerning the use of illegal drugs and inappropriate behavior to be signed by the players under consideration for approval to represent ACBL nations when selecting zonal or national representatives. Failure to submit such a certification will result in ineligibility to represent the zone of the nation in international competition.

The ACBL will send a team to represent Zone Two in the 1999 International Olympic Committee Grand Prix tournament.

The ACBL will send a team to represent Zone Two in the Senior World Championship Challenge Match to be held in conjunction with the Bermuda Bowl/Venice Cup Championships in January 2000 in Bermuda.

When a split regional is held, identical hand records must be used at both sites for all events with one overall winner unless Management authorizes the use of different hand records due to significant differences in starting times or other special circumstances.

Berkowitz, Cohen

tainly one of the most successful of the Nineties.

Since Berkowitz and Cohen became regular partners in 1991, they have been first, second or third 10 times in major pairs championships, with wins in the Blue Ribbon Pairs (1995), Life Master Open Pairs (1996) and Open Pairs II (1996). They have 15 top-10 finishes in that span.

Last August, they led the World Open Pairs in Lille, France, going into the last round before suffering two bad boards and finishing second.

Is there a secret to their success at matchpoint games?

Neither is anxious to toot his own horn, and Cohen rejects any description of the partnership that even hints at "matchpoint players."

"Barry Crane was clearly a matchpoint expert, but I don't play that much different at IMPs and matchpoints," Cohen says. "It's mostly just bridge, and anyone with more than 100 masterpoints knows that at IMPs you bid pushy games and you don't make close doubles of partscores. Actually, the difference between matchpoints and IMPs is overrated."

The two do have some theories about why they are so successful -- and many of the points could apply to anyone who aspires to achieve better results (at any form of the game).

They believe they do so well in pair games because:

- They have a strong partnership and they know their bidding system. "In a three-day event," Cohen says, "you will get fixed a few times and you will get some gifts. The key is to not give gifts of your own."
- They keep their bidding system simple (see point number one). Yes, they play Precision, but their system is mostly natural, without a lot of gadgets. Says Berkowitz: "When we first started playing we had 80 pages of notes. Now we have 70, and the goal is to get it lower." Cohen agrees: "Most pairs try to play too much, and over three days they're going to have a couple of accidents. Our main goal is addition by subtraction."
- They have complete partnership trust. Says Cohen: "We don't psych and we don't take solo actions. We try not to put any board in the irretrievable category."
- They have the luxury of being able to play with each other in the major events while other professionals are working with clients.
- They have had more than their share of luck. "We have always been on the right end of the really close finishes," Cohen says. That was certainly true in their victory in the Blue Ribbon Pairs in Atlanta in 1995. A series of gifts over the final three rounds propelled Berkowitz and Cohen from also-ran status to the victory circle. On the other hand, bad luck in Lille kept them from winning a world championship. In the long run, luck evens out.
- Perhaps most importantly, they work on their demeanor at the table. "We never argue," Cohen says. "We never raise an eyebrow and we never get angry at each other."

Cohen says the ultimate test of their partnership came in Lille during the World Open Pairs. "In a game like that," he says, "you get bottoms all the time. Every round, you're playing against world-class pairs and they drill you left and right. You can't win if you're fighting."

Berkowitz buys into that concept 100%. He jokingly describes a discussion with Cohen early in their partnership in which Cohen insisted that there be no displays of anger.

"I can't do that," Berkowitz told Cohen.

"Okay," said Cohen, "I'll give you one yell every six months."

The way Berkowitz figures it, Cohen owes him 16 yells. "I haven't yelled at him in eight years."

Seriously, Berkowitz knows how important it is to be a good partner. "It's a principle we live by," Berkowitz says. "It's something we know is right."

Berkowitz, who has won several North American championships playing with his wife, Lisa, attributes his good partnership skills with Lisa to playing with Cohen. "Lisa can tell if I didn't like something," Berkowitz says. "If I even twitch an eyebrow she says, 'Don't yell at me like that.'"

œ & &

Berkowitz and Cohen had considerable success with others before they formed their partnership.

Cohen played for many years with Marty Bergen, with whom he won the Blue Ribbon Pairs twice. Berkowitz played for a long time with Harold Lilie. Between them, Berkowitz and Cohen have about 30 North American championships.

Cohen grew up and learned bridge in Westchester County in New York. He was six when he took up the game, a Life Master at 17, and he won his first major title at age 21 (the Blue Ribbon Pairs with Ron Gerard). Today, Cohen lives in Boca Raton FL and spends his time teaching bridge and writing and publishing books about the game. He recently began teaching bridge on the Internet. There's also golf -- a game Cohen plays with as much enthusiasm as he does bridge.

Berkowitz, born in Brooklyn, learned bridge while he was attending the State University of New York at Stony Brook, ostensibly to study math. Bridge, Berkowitz recalls, "was an alternative to studying."

Before he knew it, Berkowitz was playing at the Setauket Duplicate Bridge Club on Long Island.

One of his early partners was Bob Sartorius. Recalls Berkowitz: "We were awful -- tragic." Berkowitz remembers that he was a decent declarer but an awful bidder and defender. Sartorius was a good defender but a bad declarer. The two agreed that they would both study hard in the areas where they were deficient.

Berkowitz recalls playing with Sartorius after they both had time to study. "He was playing some hand and he mangled everything," Berkowitz said. "All of a sudden, four tricks from the end, I can see him saying something to himself. It was B-L-U-E. He had read Clyde Love's book, Bridge Squeezes Complete and he was looking for a squeeze on every hand."

It wasn't long before Berkowitz emerged as one of the top players on the East Coast.

Berkowitz credits the late Jim Jacoby with helping him in his early development. Berkowitz played with Jacoby at an NABC in 1975 after going to the tournament without a partner. "Jim taught me things I needed to know about top-level bridge -- discipline, composure. I never saw him go wrong at the five level."

Berkowitz and Cohen showed how finely tuned their partnership is on this deal from the Open Boarda-Match Teams.

- (1) Drury -- limit raise in spades.
- (2) Splinter in support of hearts.

Cohen says he knew Berkowitz had to have at least five hearts to make the splinter -- and that the 4♦ bid indicated slam interest. Otherwise, why would he give information about his hand to the opponents? Cohen cooperated by cuebidding the ♣A, and that was enough for Berkowitz, who made sure the slam was played in spades. In hearts, the wrong hand gets the pitch. In a pair game, bidding a 23-point slam would be worth very nearly all of the matchpoints.

Opening day of the Blue Ribbon Pairs did not produce typical Berkowitz-Cohen results. They had enough to qualify for the semifinal rounds today, but nothing spectacular. In fact, they even had to cope with a few bad boards. The key is that they know how to handle adversity.

"At matchpoints, you're going to get bad boards," Cohen says. "How you cope with them mentally is very important."

They're winning again!

The team of Jack Brawner, Pinellas Park FL; Robert Vollbracht, Clearwater FL; Lawrence Diamond, Las Vegas; and John Harris, Michigan, won their second bracketed knockout event last night -- they've won eight straight matches. They're out to improve on the record they set in Reno last spring -- 13 straight knockout victories.

Brawner played an interesting hand in one of yesterday's matches.

(1) Namyats -- good one-suited hand in hearts.

West led his singleton trump, and Brawner cashed his top clubs to get rid of dummy's spades. Then he ruffed a low spade and ran trumps. It so happens that East can afford to keep three diamonds because his partner can cover the black suits. But East didn't know that so he came down to ♠A-10 and ♠K-J. Keeping three diamonds and a trump in dummy, Brawner cashed the ♠A and led another, ducking to East's king. He was able to ruff the black card return and cash the ♠Q to score up his slam.

team are Alan Truscott, William Esberg, Jim Hamilton, Trudi Nugit and Hamish Bennett.

James Koley and Co. had an easy time with Jack Coleman, taking a 62-1 lead in the first quarter. COLEMAN withdrew after the third quarter. Playing with Koley are Gene Simpson, Gene Freed, Syd Levey and Simon Kantor.

Kantor has had a most remarkable experience in this event. He has played only 48 of the 192 boards so far and yet has full eligibility. He sat out the first half of the first match -- and the other team withdrew at the half. He played the full 32 boards of the second half in his second match. Then yesterday he played only 16 boards in the second half because his opponents withdrew again. \square of the IOC, said at the start of the tournament, "Bridge is a sport and belongs here in the International Olympic Museum."

The event was another major push toward acceptance of bridge as an Olympic sport. Morse feels bridge has a chance to be part of the Winter Olympics as early as 2006, after being a demonstration sport at the Winter Olympics in Salt Lake City in 2002.

Another Grand Prix bridge event already is in the planning stage for next year in Lausanne. \Box cake and each received a gift from their fellow workers. Also sharing the spotlight -- although her party actually took place in Chicago at the Summer NABC -- was Bobbie Shipley, who also is retiring at the end of this year. She also was presented with a gift.

Brooks Hughes

Brooks Hughes, of Ann Arbor MI, is perhaps better known these days as Captain Midnight. No doubt about it -- he's made those midnight games really exciting. With his voice that needs no microphone, he corrals players from all corners and gets them into his team games. There's no shyness -- he is boisterous, loud and funny. It's difficult to be around Brooks and not have a few good laughs.

"I haven't always been a director," he said. "No sir, I used to be a bridge bum. I got the bug back in the sixties after a nomadic youth. I discovered duplicate in Ann Arbor, although I first played bridge when I was 12. I come from a family of card players, and my 22-year-old aunt was always bugging me to play while she was in college.

"Then at Ann Arbor I was looking up an old roommate and they told me he was playing bridge at the Union. I went over, and he was playing duplicate. It looked interesting and I tried it -- the beginning of my career as a bridge bum."

Tom Weeks, the first president of the Professional Tournament Directors Association, used to play at Brooks' club once in a while. In 1967 he asked Brooks if he'd like to try directing. Brooks remembers that Motor City Regional so well.

"When I went to the work in the back room, there I was with the likes of Stan Tench, Al Neilson, Duke Cartwright, Dick Holland, Norman Quast, Burt Garrell, John Hamilton, Dick Goldberg, Bobbie Shipley, Shirley Neilson and Fran Miller. I didn't know them then, but over the years they all became good friends of mine. Bridge directors make great friends."

The next milestone in his life occurred in 1981. "I found my dumpling. Caroline and I have been married now for 15 marvelous years. Oh, I have a story about her. She lost her room key this morning. She was taking one of her long walks on the treadmill when suddenly the key popped out of her t-shirt. And the treadmill ate it!"

Brooks won his last masterpoint 10 years ago, but he's going to start playing again. And he may even do a little directing here and there. But his days as Captain Midnight are over.

Larry Graft

Larry Graft, of Roseville CA, used to be a traveling salesman, "selling pickles." Then he quickly added, "Not really. I worked for H.J. Heinz. In fact I got into directing because of my pickle-selling days. My Monday stop was in Chico CA, and I used to play in the local club game. Bill Pillsbury, who ran the club, asked me one night if I knew anyone who could help him run a sectional tournament. Well, I had matchpointed some travelers and I was pretty good at adding, so I asked, 'How about me?' That's how it all started."

Larry's done it all. He bought a club and ran it for 20 years. He taught bridge in Macy's Department store for 12 years. And he's been directing forever! He used to work long hours so that he could get together enough money to send his kids through college.

He also has enjoyed directing thoroughly because of the people he has worked with -- people like Ray Oakley, Phil Wood, Don Smith, Cam Cameron, Ann Fanger and Jim Pastaner.

Two incidents stand out in his memory.

"We were running a sectional in Salem OR at the time when the United States was putting a man on the moon for the first time. We had 15 television sets in the playing area -- and this is the only time in my memory when players were more interested in something outside than they were in the bridge. The game lasted an hour and a half longer than usual because we couldn't get the players away from the TV sets. Actually almost the whole world came to a stop when man took his first step on the moon.

"Then there was the time we were playing in the Richmond CA Auditorium when the public employees were on strike. At about 4:30 we got a bomb threat -- 'we're going to set off the bomb at 5:30' was what we were told. One of the auditorium employees told

Open BAM.

Berkowitz remains a serious POY contender because he and partner Larry Cohen are nearly always in the hunt for the Blue Ribbon Pairs championship. That event, ending Thursday, has a first-place payoff of 175 masterpoints.

Even if someone passes Soloway with a good Blue Ribbon showing, Soloway will remain the favorite because he has an excellent shot at the 200-masterpoint payoff in the Reisinger.

Soloway is a new member of the team that won three straight Reisingers from 1993 to 1995 and four out of the last five Spingold Knockout Teams. Soloway plays with Bob Hamman on the team with Nick Nickell, Richard Freeman, Jeff Meckstroth and Eric Rodwell.

Most of the players near the top of the contenders' list have a chance for the title with the right set of circumstances. Because of partnership arrangements, however, even some who do well in the Blue Ribbon Pairs will be eliminated from contention. For example, Meckstroth and Rodwell could score well in the Blue Ribbon to move into strong contention -- or one of them could take the lead. Whoever has the lower position would no longer have a chance to win the Player of the Year award because they are teammates.

Here are the top 20 contenders in the Player of the Year race, updated to include the LM Open Pairs and the Open Board-a-Match Teams:

CASE THREE

Subject: Misinformation

Event: Bracketed KO I, 20 Nov 98, First Afternoon Session

Board: 28 ♠ A Q 6 Dealer: West ♥ A Q J 8 3 ♦ Q 5 3 Vul: N-S 4 10 2 ♦ J 4 2 ★ K 9 3 ♥ K 10 2 ♥9754 ♦ A J 10 2 ♦ 6 ♣ Q 9 3 ♣ A K 7 5 4 ★ 10 8 7 5 9 6 ♦ K 9 8 7 4 ♣ J 8 6 WEST NORTH EAST SOUTH Pass 1NT 2♣ 2♦ (1) Pass Pass 3♣ All Pass

(1) Announced; transfer

The Facts: 3♣ went down one, plus 50 for N/S. 2♦ was announced as a transfer. Neither one of the N/S convention cards reflected that agreement. North's card was marked "system on over dbl" and South's was blank. West stated she would have passed 2♠ had she known that 2♦ was a natural call.

The Director ruled that West had been damaged by misinformation and changed the contract to 2♠ down two, plus 200 for E/W.

The Appeal: N/S appealed the Director's ruling. North could give no satisfactory explanation as to why he didn't bid again with ♠AQ6 and ♥AQJ83 (his partner's two suits).

E/W claimed that West would not have bid 3♣ had she known 2♦ was a natural bid because she had defensive values.

The Committee Decision: North had not bid again with ♠AQ6 and ♥AQJ83. West's explanation that she had not bid 3♣ with 11 HCP and ♣Q93 because she had defensive values would not be a compelling argument from an experienced player. These facts made it clear to the Committee that these were beginning players and that their statements were made with sincerity.

The Committee decided to adjust the score, assuming that

West would have passed South's 2♠ bid. It was clear that for experienced players the most unfavorable result that was at all probable (Law 12C2) would have been 3♥ down three or 4♥ down four. It was less clear what the result would have been for players at this level. Since the Committee learned that the ruling made by the Director (2♠ down two, plus 200 for E/W) was sufficient to decide the outcome of the match, they decided to impose that same score since any more severe adjustment was moot.

Committee: Bill Passell (chair), Jeanne Fisher, Walter Fontaine

Christmas gift idea

The World Championships in Rhodes, Greece, in 1996 were exciting and highly competitive. Eric Kokish and his staff produced perhaps the best World Championship book ever published, capturing the aura of the tournament. The book is full of interesting hands, excellent analysis and superb photos -- just the thing for your bridge friends.

The books are available from the better bridge suppliers, including the ACBL. The price is $29.95, but most booksellers offer some sort of discount. The ACBL discount to members is 10%, so the ACBL price is $27.00.
