Nickell is 2003 Honorary Member

Nick Nickell and Randy Joyce were very interested in sports when they were 13 years old, and they loved to read about their heroes in Sports Illustrated. They were intrigued by the articles about bridge that appeared every month - they looked strange but interesting. Thus began a lifelong interest in bridge for Nickell that has now been culminated by his being chosen as the ACBL's Honorary Member of the Year for 2003.

One day when they were sitting on the living room floor and reading the magazine, they decided they wanted to know what this game of bridge was all about. Nickell got out a volume of the World Book Encyclopedia and looked up Bridge.

"Believe it or not, the explanation about bridge was passable. There was enough there for us to get the general idea of what the game was all about. We started dealing and experimenting, and we came up with our own form of two-handed bridge.

"Some time later a friend told us about duplicate and he showed us how to play the four-handed Continued on page 4

George Rosenkranz tops 15,000 points

In the midst of a hurricane – no lights, no water, no phone service in the hotel - George Rosenkranz > went about his business: playing bridge and winning masterpoints.

"I love bridge. I learned bridge when I was 11 years old," said Rosenkranz, now 86. He was Mexico's first Life Master and the 1990 ACBL Honorary Member of the Year. He is a member of the ACBL Hall of Fame.

Rosenkranz expressed special thanks to his wife, Edith -- "I have the most wonderful wife" -- his family, including three sons and eight grandchildren, and Wold, "a bridge partner to us both and a friend to my family."

Rosenkranz was the founding chairman of Syntex Corporation which made scientific contributions in the field of steroid hormones, namely cortisone and birth control pills.

"Bridge is a tremendous management tool for business," he said. "The amount of decision-making that has to be done in bridge offers a wonderful background for the business world where the same kind of decisions have to be made at frequent intervals all day long. In a bridge session, you often have to make hundreds of decisions, many of them difficult. That's great practice for business."

Now that Syntex has been sold, Rosenkranz has turned his attention to the field of genomic medicine. "In 15 to 20 years," he said, "we'll be able to tell if a medicine will work for you, have side effects or just be bad – without having to take the medicine and wait for possible side effects."

Location, climate pay off for Phoenix

The co-chairs of the Phoenix NABC knew their location and climate were major assets but – like ACBL officials - they weren't sure what a Thanksgiving starting date would produce.

"I want to go on record as telling them it would go over 10,000 tables," said Jill Flower Miller, a tournament co-chair. "Everything went perfectly. Starting the tournament on Thanksgiving was an excellent idea."

Marianne Spanier, the other co-chair, agreed. "Part of the success of this tournament was that it started after Thanksgiving – and you can't beat the location and the climate.

"I don't feel relief that it's almost over," she added. "I've enjoyed every minute of the last year and a half."

The two were named tournament co-chairs in May 2001. "We got started very late in planning this tournament," said Spanier, "but we knew some excellent people to appoint to committees."

Miller and Spanier expressed special thanks to Beverley Bradshaw, registration, charity and tours chairman; Lynn Schuetz, newcomers; John Harms, caddymaster; Stephanie Haddy and Karen Miller, hospitality and entertainment; Martin and Ann Hauser, partnerships; Anne Allen, volunteer coordinator; Jayme Rubenstein, publicity chairman, and Elaine Sarko and Continued on page 4 the Reisinger Board-a-Match two-session final today. Since a carryover formula will be applied, chances are the 10 finalists will be bunched within two boards when the game gets under way at noon.

This should make for a highly interesting vugraph show. Both of today's sessions will be vugraphed in the Regency Ballroom at the Hyatt Regency.

Leading the field are Malcolm Brachman, Chris Compton, Mike Passell and Italians Claudio Nunes and Fulvio Fantoni.Less than a board behind are Nick Nickell, Richard Freeman, Eric Rodwell, Jeff Meckstroth, Bob Hamman and Paul Soloway.

The vugraph commentary will be handled by some very fine analysts including Compton, Barry Rigal, Chip Martel, George Jacobs, Zia Mahmood, David Berkowitz and Larry Cohen.

Gordon squad leads Swiss

A New York-Florida-Quebec squad leads 23 other teams into today's two final sessions of the North American Swiss Teams. Yesterday's semifinal matches reduced the field from 52 teams to 24 teams.

Mark Gordon, Purchase NY; Richard Zucker, Dobbs Ferry NY; Winthrop Allegaert - Jaggy Shivdasani, New York NY; Mark Molson, Hollywood FL, and Boris Baran, Cote Saint-Luc PQ, are the leaders.

In the semifinal rounds, they finished 9.18 points ahead of Louise Freed, Gene Freed, Derrell Childs, Nels Erickson, William Schreiber and Jeff Olson.

In third place -- only 3.18 points back -- are Mark Itabashi, William Esberg, Sam Wilson and John Jeffrey. Lynn Baker, Debbie Rosenberg, Sabine Auken, Daniela von Arnim, Kerri Sanborn and Karen McCallum are 4 points back and in fourth place.

It's up to 11,787.5

Attendance is staying at the upper levels as we move into the final day of Phoenix 2002. The table count is 11,787.5.

What it was like at my first major event

By Sabine Auken

Many-time world champion Sabine Auken, now of Denmark and formerly of Germany, recalls her first major event. It was the World Championship in Miami in 1986. American bridge players remember Sabine for her fantastic feat of becoming an ACBL Life Master in six weeks in 1989, partnered usually by Ron Andersen.

White beaches, luxury yachts, Miami Vice, Don Johnson, blue eyes -- surely that's what was on the mind of two young German girls traveling to Miami Beach in 1986.

Nothing of the sort, try again!

Aces, kings and queens, spades, hearts, diamonds and clubs and how to take as many tricks as possible come much closer to the truth. Somehow the German Bridge Federation had become convinced of our potential and, who knows, maybe there could be some hope for a future medal. Thus they subsidized a trip to Miami for Daniela von Arnim and me. So off we went to our first World Championship, full of expectations.

On the plane we met two young chaps from England, a tall skinny one and a shorter one with glasses. Do bridge players have a natural magnetism to one another? They were on their way to the championships as well, so what more obvious way to pass the time than playing bridge in the back of the plane?

Their names are Glynn Liggins and Andrew Robson. Who would have thought that years later they would be famous internationals, that Andy together with Tony Forrester would form one of Britain's premier partnerships that would dominate the tournament scene for a long time?

My first encounter with American culture was not a success. I had tried to fill in the immigration form for all visitors to the U.S. as diligently as possible, but had left the space for the address during my stay blank. Not out of stubbornness -- I simply didn't know it.

Daniela and I had agreed to share an apartment with two friends from Germany who had already been in Miami for a week's vacation. They were supposed to pick us up at the airport. What did I care where the apartment was? The immigration officer was not at all satisfied with this explanation. He almost wouldn't let me into the country. At this point I really turned stubborn -- where I was going to stay was none of his business! I was fuming. In the end he gave me permission to stay for the duration of the championships, and not a single day more.

From then on everything was plain sailing. Our friends Georg Nippgen and Jockel Bitchene took us safely to our home for the next two weeks, the Beekman Suites Hotel, 9499 Collins Avenue, Bal Harbour, Florida. There you go, Mr. Immigration officer.

As the games began we could smell the international tournament air. We kicked off with the Mixed Pairs, in which I played with a good friend from Augsburg, Andreas Pawlik, Germany's by far bestlooking bridge-playing ophthalmologist.

Once, after one of my usual silly mistakes, my partner seemed a bit upset. "Don't you know whom we just played against?" he asked. "That was Eric Rodwell." I nodded knowingly, but in reality had no clue. Who was Eric Rodwell? Two weeks later Eric Rodwell and Jeff Meckstroth became the World Pairs champions.

The only other things I remember from the mixed event are the fact that we were East-West every single round and that we walked past an American lady who had painted spades, hearts, diamonds and clubs all over her fingernails. My mistakes were not very memorable and we finished nowhere. Still I enjoyed every single minute!

The next event was the Rosenblum Teams, where Dani and I were playing with our friends Hasi Gwinner and Andreas and another German pair that was famous for their unreliability. You never knew whether they would show up for a round or not. We got knocked out fairly early and landed in the never-ending Swiss. There were seemingly endless breaks between the matches, but every single one was an exciting adventure.

One round we played against a father-son combination from England. The son could not have been more than 14-15 years old and it appeared his twin brother was playing at the other table. His bridge was very impressive and he clearly was convinced that Dani and

I would be easy prey. So of course we had to prove that we were not just two giggling girls exchanging boyfriend pictures. It was a matter of the highest prestige.

By the way, their last name was Hackett. Who could imagine that 15 years later we would be attending his brother's wedding with one of our teammates on the German Ladies National team in Manchester, England?

At one point our teammates became very agitated, "Next round we are going to play against Malcolm Brachman's team," they whispered excitedly. Apparently Malcolm Brachman was a well-known sponsor from Texas who had even won a world championship. We marveled that there was such a thing as bridge professionals getting paid large sums of money for playing bridge.

Time passed quickly and we thoroughly enjoyed life in the international bridge circus. There were always lots of people around and it was never boring. There was this Frenchman wandering about the lobby telling everybody that wanted to listen and also those that didn't that he is not playing against two opponents, but five. His partner and his teammates were conspiring against him all the time as well. They call him "The Cigar." The French also call him "Enfant Terrible", but his real name is Paul Chemla.

Now, years later, whenever I meet him at a tournament, the first thing he asks me is: "How are your children?" And when he visited my home in Copenhagen for dinner he told me, "If I had a family and home like yours, I would never play bridge again."

We were invited to a cocktail party on the luxury yacht of Florida millionaire Diana Holt, where we met a lot of people. There was this American guy who insisted on telling me his whole life story while he constantly jumped up and down and moved from one side to the other. This was Alan Sontag. I thought it was wonderful to meet him -- I read The Bridge Bum months later.

And who says there are no good-looking male bridge players? I distinctly remember a very attractive young man from a Middle Eastern country. Long walks on the beach in the moonlight, a long kiss goodby in the lobby of my hotel. Furtive looks around -- hopefully none of my friends was around to see anything. If only there wasn't a boyfriend waiting back in Germany!

Meanwhile Dani and I were doing quite well in the Women's Pairs. We qualified for the semifinals and then the final. Only 28 pairs were playing in that and we actually finished 7th. What a thrill, we were in seventh heaven! Is it really all over now and do we really have to go back home to our everyday life? Are we ever going to have so much fun again?

Many championships have followed that first one, and every single one of them has been a new and exciting experience. I have been to many countries, gained a lot of insight into other cultures and other peoples' mentality. But most and best of all I have made a lot of friends whom I meet again and again wherever the bridge circus pitches its tents.

Lenz vs. Culbertson to come alive again

In what was dubbed the Bridge Battle of the Century (the last century), Ely Culbertson challenged Sidney Lenz to a rubber bridge match to determine whose bidding system was best. The widely publicized event, held in late 1931 and early 1932, took place at New York's Chatham Hotel and the Waldorf-Astoria. Culbertson triumphed.

During Bridge Week in North America, Jan. 6-12, Culbertson and Lenz will be reincarnated as modern-day experts will replay deals from the famous match at the site of the original contest, the Waldorf-Astoria.

Instead of reading about the contest in the local newspaper, however, or listening to the coverage on the radio -- as people did more than 70 years ago -- players across ACBL can participate in the match themselves at their local clubs. Mark your calendar now to play in the week-long series of events featuring deals from the Culbertson-Lenz match, the same deals which will be played in New York.

The cast of characters for the 2003 rematch will feature Robert and Jill Levin -- multiple national champions -- in the roles of Ely and Josephine Culbertson. The young Oswald Jacoby (Lenz's partner throughout much of the match) will be played by World Junior Team champion John Kranyak. As of press time, it had yet to be determined who would play the role of Sidney Lenz.

The event at the Waldorf-Astoria will be a full-scale production worthy of Broadway, complete with song, dance, drama and a vugraph show. Bridge Week in North America is the brainchild of ACBL Hall of Famers Alan and Dorothy Truscott.

The goal of Bridge Week is to spread the word that bridge is the best leisure-time activity in the world. ACBL will also use the celebration as a membership drive and will offer participating clubs the opportunity to win prizes and awards.

The winning line

By Barry Rigal

An excellent declarer play problem was solved by less than one-fourth of the field in the first qualifying session of the Reisinger Board-a-Match Teams.

On the  $\clubsuit$ Q lead, you win the ace – what now? To achieve the required number of entries to dummy to strip off the black suits, it is essential to play the  $\P$ 8 or  $\P$ 9 to the 10 or queen in dummy.

Suppose West ducks; you play the ♣K and ruff a club, then lead the ♥K. It can do West no good to duck, so he wins and plays back a third heart which you take in dummy to lead a spade to the king. Whether West hops up with the ace on the first round or ducks, the defenders will be thrown in with the third spade to open up diamonds or give you a ruff and discard, so the diamond loser vanishes.

Geir Helgemo, playing with George Rosenkranz, was one of the few declarers to find the winning line – but that does not surprise you, does it?

Sharlene Weinberg, registration gift.

The NABC table count (as of yesterday) was 11,787.5 – well above the original estimate for Phoenix. A grand total of 12,500 tables is still a possibility.

The co-chairs aren't surprised. "Our main problem has been increasing hospitality to meet the needs of the increased attendance," said Miller. "This has been a pleasurable experience for me," she added. "I'd do it again in a minute – with Marianne."

Spanier agreed. "To tell you the truth, Jill and I have had a great time the last year and a half."

"ACBL is the most wonderful group to work with," added Miller, singling out ACBL staffers Nancy Foy and Jeff Johnston.

First you bid, then you play

By Barry Rigal

Partner opens 3♦ and you hold:

♠K J 8 ♥A Q J 8 ♦A ♣A 9 8 6 4.

Jon Brissman was playing in the Compact Knockout Teams and reported this deal, first as a bidding problem, then as a test of play.

Jon bid 5♦ and left his partner to make it – on the most threatening of leads, the ♣5 (well done, West).

There are two plausible lines of play: take the ♣A and play the ♠K, hoping that the defense can't cash any more clubs and that the  $\nabla K$  is right.

Or duck the first club, win the next (hoping there is no ruff) and play the ♠K, hoping for favorable developments.

If you follow plan 1, you get to go home. If you follow plan 2, you reach the next round of the knockouts.

South led the ♣9: 4, king, 3. North continued the ♣J and Dauer won his queen, pitching a diamond from dummy. He played a spade to dummy's king and continued with a low spade to his 10 and South's ace. South continued with a club to North's 10 and Dauer ducked again. North had no more clubs and Dauer had time to knock out the ♥A and claim his contract.

At the other table, where Kennedy and Krauss defended 3NT, Kennedy also led the ♣9. Krauss played the &K and declarer won his ace. Declarer played a spade to dummy and a spade to his 10 and Kennedy's ace. Kennedy continued clubs and declarer ducked the ♣J but won the ♣10 continuation. Now when he led a heart, Kennedy took her ace and cashed two good clubs to set the contract.

Player of Year race - revised standings

Today we provide the revised list for the Player of the Year race. The list published in yesterday's edition was incorrect. The numbers supplied to us for this tournament were all the points earned, not just those in unrestricted North American championship events. The error was due to a miscommunication between the tournament division and the Daily Bulletin.

Norberto Bocchi of Italy, a member of the George Jacobs team, now is at the top of the list. Jacobs hiumself is tied for second with Alfredo Versace of Italy. Rounding out the top five are Jeff Meckstroth and Larry Cohen.

Those with more than 300 points earned in unrestricted North American championship events:

1	Norberto Bocchi	609.02
2/3	George Jacobs	593.41
2/3	Alfredo Versace	593.41

Prize money tour goes to NY; Television pilot in the works

Larry King, director of Bridge Pro Tour Inc., announced yesterday that a New York television production company has agreed to shoot a pilot during the $12,000 New York Open, part of the Edgar Kaplan Regional held at the Roosevelt Hotel December 26-31, 2002.

The New York Open kicks off the third year of prize money bridge staged by BPT, which began as a West Coast tour with four cities and $40,000 in 2001. In 2002 the tour expanded to five stops and $60,000 plus a $10,000 bonus pool.

Plans for 2003 include 11 cities and $120,000 in prize money plus a $20,000 bonus pool. Cities on the tour include five Eastern venues: New York, Miami, Cleveland, Chicago and Secaucus NJ. The Western tour includes San Diego, Las Vegas, Los Angeles (played at the Long Beach NABC), Santa Clara, Palm Springs and Reno.

The entry fee for the New York and Reno BPT events is $100. If you register before Dec. 12, the entry is $90. You may purchase a coupon book of five entries for $400 (good for up to two years).

Send your check payable to Bridge Pro Tour Inc., P. O. Box 9, Brownsville CA 94919. If you have questions, contact Nancy King at (530) 274-0923 or via email at hobo@aloha.com

Bob Hamman

Shawn Quinn

Hamman and Quinn top WBF rankings

Shawn Quinn, silver medalist in the McConnell Cup at the World Bridge Championships in Montreal, has regained the top spot in World Bridge Federation rankings for women players.

Bob Hamman, No. 1 in open rankings since 1985, retained his position despite a challenge from teammate Jeff Meckstroth.

Quinn, who lives in the Houston suburb of Richmond TX, was third in the world rankings before Montreal. She finished second in the McConnell and fifth in the Women's Pairs with Mildred Breed to overtake German stars Sabine Auken and Daniela von Arnim. Ten of the top 20 women in WBF rankings are Americans: Quinn, Jill Meyers (2), Breed (4), Kerri Sanborn (7), Lynn Deas (10), Irina Levitina (11), Randi Montin (12), Karen McCallum (14), Beth Palmer (15) and Tobi Sokolow (16). Meyers, Montin, Levitina, Deas, Palmer and Sanborn won the McConnell in Montreal.

Meckstroth, winner of the Mixed Pairs in Montreal, moved from third to second, edging closer to Hamman, with whom he plays on the Nick Nickell team. Eric Rodwell, Meckstroth's regular partner, dropped from second to sixth in the open category. Other Americans in the top 20 are Lew Stansby (3), Chip Martel (4), Peter Weichsel (15), Michael Rosenberg (16) and Alan Sontag (18).

game. We tried duplicate when we were about 16, and it was love at first sight

"Incidentally, I wondered recently if the World Book still has a good article about bridge. I looked it up, and it's still there."

It may seem strange to say that the Honorary Member award is the culmination of Nickell's career, considering that he already has won two world championship (1995 and 2000). But being Honorary Member means that the bridge world feels he is worthy of the highest honor the ACBL bestows on its players.

Actually bridge is only one of Nickell's main interests. Number one is his family – wife Carol and sons Joey, 6, and Thomas, 4. He also is a major businessman – president and CEO of Kelso Co., an investment banking firm.

What is it about bridge that has held his interest for so many years?

"It's a wonderful, wonderful, wonderful game. It is so competitive. It is never the same. It's a game that can never be mastered, as Edgar Kaplan used to say. My teammate, Bob Hamman, who is arguably the best player in the world, says he never plays a session without learning something new."

Nickell stopped for a moment's thought and then said, "I came up against a new card combination just today."

"The opening lead against 3NT was the deuce and East took the queen and continued with the king. West followed with the 8, and East continued with a third diamond, giving declarer two easy tricks. It occurred to me that partnerships should have an agreement that the card to play in following to the second lead should be the highest of touching cards. In this case, if West played the 9, East would know declarer had the jack-10 and therefore he would know it was imperative to switch to another suit."

Nickell's present highly successful partnership with Richard Freeman began in 1981 when Nickell moved to Atlanta. "It's a great partnership. We think alike, we have similar thought processes and we're both fascinated by the game."

Nickell doesn't play as much as he used to – mostly at North American championships, Team Trials and world championships. "Dick and I practice a little on the Internet, but I guess we should do it a little more often. We play about every two weeks for about an hour or so. As for tournament play, the last time I competed was at the world championships in Montreal last August."

In addition to his two world championships, Nickell has had major successes in American bridge. He once was on the winning Spingold team four years in a row and was the victor in six out of seven years. Her also won three Reisingers consecutively. Add to that one Vanderbilt and one Blue Ribbon Pairs. At the world level he also had a second place in the Bermuda Bowl in Tunisia in 1997. For the past two years he has served on the board of the United States Bridge Federation, the organization whose aim is to add bridge to the Olympic program.

What did it feel like to discover you were named Honorary Member?

"I was thrilled beyond belief. Joan Gerard called me in the middle of a hectic day at the office. After that it didn't seem so hectic. But all I could think of was that I wished I was already in Phoenix."

Bridge has made a major difference in his life. "I've made so many wonderful friends in the bridge world. So many different kinds of people. So many different countries, so many different backgrounds. Because of bridge I have friends all over the world."

"The best ever"

Caddymaster Jackie Matthews looked around at the caddies eating pizza – "this is the best caddy group ever," she declared with a smile.

"Aw, Jackie," protested the older caddies, "you always say that."

"But it's true," insisted Matthews, still smiling, "you are the best ever."

For Matthews, who has been caddymaster at NABCs since the late Eighties, each group is "the best ever.

"I tell the directors that the caddies are the tournament's most important asset. Without caddies, the tournament would not run. And the directing staff has a real advantage: they know whom they're working with – I don't."

Earlier in the week, Matthews – facing a caddy shortage – sent out a call for help, and caddies poured in from Nevada, Vermont, Winnipeg, Ohio, Texas and Estonia.

Estonia? Kristiana Parn has a friend playing at the NABC "so I came to caddy."

Brothers Tony and Trevor Ames drove from Minnesota -- 1700 miles in two days. They hiked Camelback Mountain, caddied two sessions a day and headed home.

A special visitor/caddy yesterday was Brian Calaway, who was head caddy at the Phoenix NABC in 1995. "My grandmother, Roma Clarke, got me started caddying," he recalled. "I worked about every session every day – I think I slept about 24 hours after it was over."

Calaway has just graduated from Arizona State University. "My grandmother told me the NABC was here so I came back to caddy."

New Life Masters

Sandy French of Albuquerque and Tucson made Life Master playing with Betsy Montano in the Friday afternoon session of the Senior Pairs.

Trudi Nugit of Palm Desert CA needed only a fraction, so she went over the top when she won the first match in the Saturday-Sunday Knockout Teams. She was playing with Ashraf Elsadi, and their teammates were Ross Rainwater and Jackie Jarigese.

John DeSoto of San Francisco became a Life Master in the Friday-Saturday Knockout Teams.

Bob Otis of Allen TX won his gold card in the Saturday morning Swiss Teams.

Mary Skavari of Columbus OH made the grade by winning the 299er Swiss Teams.

Phyllis Bishop of Loveland OH won one of the brackets of the Friday-Saturday knockouts, and that gave her more than enough points for her gold card. She played with Sue Herman of Westchester OH, and their teammates were Jeanne Weyers of Cincinnati and Tonette DeAngelis of Westchester.

Good start as a senior

Glenn Eisenstein turned 55 Thursday, and he tied for first in his section in his first Senior Pairs event the following day. He and partner Bernard Sillins wonder if it was significant that the very first call on the very first board was "Double."

A fine auction

Sidney Lazard and Bart Bramley got to many good contracts route to their victory in the Blue Ribbon Pairs, of course, but this one was especially good.

After South made a preemptive raise in spades, Lazard decided to show his diamonds instead of rebidding hearts. Once Bramley showed a preference for hearts, Lazard decided to show his spade control. Bramley knew it was a void because he was looking at the ace. He jumped to 6♣, asking about help in that suit. Lazard's help couldn't have been better − king doubleton − so he leaped to the heart grand. Bramley knew something that Lazard didn't know − he had the ♠A − so he corrected to 7NT which was a laydown.

Phoenix Unit elects six new directors

Phoenix players may have been spending lots of time at the tables, but they also took part in special voting during this tournament to elect six new Unit 354 Directors to serve in 2003.

Ordinarily the Phoenix Unit holds its Election Sectional at this time of year, but the ACBL decided to drop that tournament from the schedule to replace it with the NABC, a once-in-seven-year occurrence.

Results were announced yesterday. The winners include: NABC Tournament Co-Chairman Jill Miller, Scottsdale; Anne Marie Harrington and Jamie Rubenstein, also of Scottsdale; and Jane Woolley, Robert C. Reed and Lynne Schuetz, all of Sun City West.

O'Rourke honored in tribute to Mom

One player honored during this tournament by Phoenix Unit 354 was Lou Ann O'Rourke with Friday "Lou Ann O'Rourke Appreciation Day"

The Portola Valley, Calif. player donated generously to the NABC to support hospitality and entertainment.

Lou Ann, a Gold Life Master who also maintains a home in Scottsdale, made a gift to the local committee honoring her late mother, Christine Spencer, an avid player from Florida, who died in May.

"I always think we should give back something to a game that has given so much to us," said Lou Ann.

Lost

A ruby and diamond ring. Great sentimental value If found please return to the Daily Bulletin office, Cassidy Room, 2nd floor Hyatt Regency or to the Crowne Plaza lost and found.

Scotland's here too

Robert Grubb and Robert McKinnon of Glasgow, Scotland, dropped by the Daily Bulletin office to point out that Scotland should have been included in the list of nations present.

All Pass

- (1) Natural, game forcing
- (2) Cuebid in support of hearts
- (3) Break in tempo

The Facts: 6♥ made six, +980 for N/S. The opening lead was the ♣A. E/W called the Director after the 6♥ bid and said that North had paused significantly before bidding 5♥. The Director, after consulting with other staff members and three expert players, determined that passing 5♥ was a logical alternative for South. The contract was changed to 5♥ made six, +480 for N/S (Laws 72B1 and 16).

The Appeal: N/S appealed the Director's ruling. N/S systemically opened weak two-bids with weak five-card suits (they played Ogust 2NT, asking for suit quality) and had no agreement as to what a pass or redouble of 4♣ showed (first- or second-round control). So South did not know if North held a club control and the absence of a 5♠ cuebid suggested that he held first- but not second-round diamond control. Everyone agreed that North broke tempo before his 5♥ bid.

The Committee Decision: The break in tempo clearly made bidding slam more attractive, so the question was whether passing  $5\Psi$  was a logical alternative for South. Although some Committee members initially thought there might be no logical alternative to bidding  $6\Psi$ , after considering various possible North hands it did not take long to determine that there were several holdings that would give slam no play opposite South's hand.

For example, given that the auction indicated that North lacked second-round diamond control, any 2-6-(3-2) pattern that included solid hearts, the ◆A, and perhaps a high club honor but lacking the ◆K Q and ◆K would provide virtually no play for slam after the likely diamond lead. Thus, passing 5♥ was clearly a logical alternative for South. The Committee concluded that South should have known that pass was a possible action and that he was not entitled to bid on after the unauthorized information from the slow 5♥ bid. Therefore, the contract was changed to 5♥ made six, +480 for N/S, and N/S were each assessed an appeal without merit warning.

The Facts: 4♠ made four, +420 for E/W. The opening lead was a low heart. N/S called the Director after East's 4♠ bid and told him that East had hesitated before bidding 2♠. The Director instructed that play continue and later ruled that passing 2♠ was not a logical alternative for West. The table result was allowed to stand.

The Appeal: N/S appealed the Director's ruling. Both sides agreed that East took approximately 15 seconds to bid 2♠. N/S believed that it was not sufficiently clear to allow West to bid 3♠ given East's break in tempo. E/W believed that West's hand contained sufficient extra values beyond the minimum needed for his cuebid to make it correct for him to bid over East's signoff.

South's pass over 1\(\Delta\) suggested near-minimum opening values, increasing the chance of East's having extras.

In response to the Committee's questions it was discovered that E/W played wide-ranging overcalls in all positions. Thus, East's 1♠ bid could have been made on as little as ♠AQxxx and out. West's 2♥ bid showed support and roughly a good 10 HCP or more (i.e. standard) and E/W did not vary the strength requirements for overcalls or responses to them in the balancing versus the direct seat.

The play had gone: low heart to the queen; diamond to the king and ace; low heart to the ace, ruffed by North; low club to the ace; ♥K, ruffed by declarer (East); club ruff in dummy; ♠Q, after which declarer took the remaining tricks on a crossruff.

The Committee Decision: The Committee believed that it would not be at all surprising for the limit of the hand to be eight tricks in a spade contract, given how weak a hand East might have held for his 1♠ bid. A hand as good as ♠AQxxx ♥xx ♠xx ♣Kxxx would typically produce only eight tricks on a trump lead, so there was a significant risk of going down in a three-level (or higher) contract if West bid over 2♠.

Thus, the Committee judged that pass was a logical alternative to 3♠ for West. The Committee also believed that West's 3♠ bid was demonstrably suggested by the unauthorized information from the slow 2♠ bid. (One Committee member held the West hand in an auction which started identically to the one here—including the break in tempo -- except East bid 3♠ after he hesitated. The Committee member recalled thinking at the table that he would have been constrained to pass if East had bid only 2♠.)

The Committee next considered the quality of the N/S defense of 4♠. Either N/S player could have prevented club ruff(s) in dummy by leading trumps at trick four or five, which would have given declarer a tougher time of it. However, given the favorable lie of the diamonds and the favorable break of the remaining trumps declarer still could have taken 10 tricks by setting up dummy's diamonds with one ruff. Thus, even though the defense was perhaps inferior, no other line would have assured the defeat of the contract. Therefore, the contract was changed to 2♠ made four, +170 for E/W.
