Zimmermann Team Leads 2010 John Roberts Teams

The 2010 Cavendish Invitational tournament began yesterday with a wonderful breakfast near the pool area. There was more than enough to keep someone with the keenest of appetites happy.

I wonder if anyone has considered studying the effect of food (and alcohol!) on bridge players. No doubt it would be inconclusive. However, a friend of mine claims that if you eat in the middle of a round of golf, you will add between two and four shots to your score.

Once the John Roberts Teams got underway, the winners of the Vanderbilt Knockout Teams two months ago, Pierre Zimmermann, Franck Multon, Michel and Thomas Bessis, Geir Helgemo and Tor Helness, took the lead after Round 3 and retained it, so that with one session — three rounds — to play today, they lead by 9 victory points from Daniel Zagorin, Kevin Bathurst, Bart Bramley and Nikolay Demirev. Third, 7 vps behind, are John Diamond, Brian Platnick, Zia Mahmood and Jeff Meckstroth.

Interestingly, only one team won five of its six matches, the 't. Onstein team of Sjoert Brink, Bas Drijver, Bauke Muller and Simon De Wijs. But they are in fourth place, 22 vps off the pace. To whom did they lose? Zimmermann, by 26-4 — those 22 vps.

No Electronic Devices in the Playing Area

Absolutely no electronic devices capable of sending or receiving signals (other than hearing aids) may be brought into the playing rooms under any circumstances. This applies to kibitzers as well as players. You may leave your electronic devises at the check-in table; however, WBP will not be held responsible for lost items.

Appeals Announcement

Appeals of tournament directors' rulings (in all events) will be handled in the following manner. Any director's ruling will be reconsidered (at the request of either side) by a timely filing for such consideration with the Director in Charge. Said request for reconsideration shall be in writing and must set forth in sufficient detail the reason(s) why the filing party believes that the ruling was incorrect.

Upon receipt of a request for reconsideration, the tournament directing staff, along with whomever else the staff wishes to consult, will reconsider the ruling and render a decision. The directors may request a hearing when there are facts in dispute, but are not required to do so.

John Roberts Teams — First Session

by Phillip Alder

To start, here are three problems from the opening session.

You are South, with only your side vulnerable, holding:

(a) Intermediate

What would you do?

West leads the spade ace and cashes the spade king, East playing eight-four using upside-down signals. Then West shifts to the heart four. How would you continue?

You barrel into six diamonds. West leads the spade four. What would be your plan?

For the first match, I watched Billy Cohen and Ron Smith take on Bobby Levin and Steve Weinstein.

The first board was unexciting. This was the second:

I thought Weinstein was going to make a game-try double, but after some thought he jumped to the vulnerable game.

(a) Intermediate

East led the heart nine, ducked to declarer's king. North immediately led his club ten, East winning with his ace and playing another heart. West won with his ace and shifted to a trump. Declarer won that in his hand, ruffed his last heart in the dummy, drew trumps and made his contract.

At the other table, North-South stopped in two spades, so Lou Ann O'Rourke's team gained 10 international match points.

This was the next deal:

After a quantitative auction, West led the heart ten, his partnership's lead from that holding.

Levin could see ten top tricks and an eleventh in clubs. He had numerous chances for a twelfth.

He took the first trick with his king and led the club king, West taking his ace and returning a heart, covered by the nine and jack.

Levin played a heart to his queen, cashed the club queen, discarding a diamond from the dummy, and ran the spades to reach this position:

Pen Only

On the last spade, West threw a diamond perforce, and North and East pitched clubs.

Declarer cashed dummy's diamond king, then led a diamond toward his hand. Had West begun with 3=2=4=4 distribution and East with 3=4=2=4? Deciding that they had, North finessed his diamond jack and lost the last two tricks for down two.

At the other table, Marc Jacobus (West) led a diamond against six notrump by South, and declarer also misguessed to go down one, giving Seymon Deutsch's squad 2 imps.

The rest of the match featured accurate play by both pairs. At the other table, though, some errors left Deutsch ahead by 22 imps, which converted to 27-3 in victory points.

In round two, an all-European match was on Vu-Graph, between the De Knijff and Brink teams.

I went to watch Geir Helgemo and Tor Helness (on the Zimmermann) take on Russ Ekeblad and Jans Jansma (on the Kasle team).

On the first board, Ekeblad and Jansma pushed into four spades.

When Ekeblad put down the dummy, he said, "Good luck, partner."

"I'm going to need it."

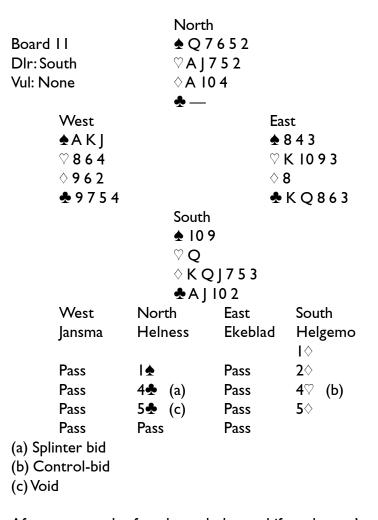

After some thought, Jansma said, "Perhaps the spades will be 2-2."

A pause, then: "The trouble is that we are missing five trumps."

There were no miracles and Jansma went down one for a flat board.

Three notrump would have made and was reached by Simon De Wijs and Bauke Muller. The Brink team gained 10 imps when Martin De Knijff and Frederic Wrang made two spades with an overtrick.

This was the second deal:

After two rounds of spades and a heart shift to dummy's ace, Helgemo thought for a very long time. He presumably analyzed ruffing three clubs in the dummy. But eventually he tried to ruff down the heart king, keeping spades 3-3 on the back burner.

He ruffed a heart in his hand, cashed the diamond king, played a diamond to dummy's ace, trumped a heart with his diamond jack, led a trump to dummy's ten, and cashed the spade queen with gratifying results.

The board was flat.

Helgemo's line of play was effectively duplicated by Fallenius on Vu-Graph to lose 2 imps against three notrump plus two.

Then came a board that was boring on Vu-Graph, both East-West pairs making four spades with two overtricks. In the Kasle-Zimmermann match the bidding got to the six-level in both rooms.

At the first table, the transfer sequence put Helness (North) on lead. Naturally he chose his singleton club. Equally naturally, Helgemo won with his ace and returned the suit — down one.

In the other room, there was confusion over East's four-diamond bid. West wrote for South that it was natural. East wrote that it showed zero to five diamonds.

Gaylor Kasle (South) did well, leading the club ace. Then he knew that, unless partner had a natural trump trick, he had to give North a ruff at trick two. But in which minor would that ruff come?

Thinking East had diamond length, South naturally shifted to a diamond, after which declarer claimed, gaining 14 imps.

North-South called for the tournament director. But after due deliberation, the result was allowed to stand. It was felt that South had been given accurate information. East had got lucky with his unusual rebid. North, who had not been given a correct explanation, had had no bearing on the result.

Board 13 was a four-spade contract for North-South that required trumps 3-2 and the club ace onside. For declarer it was a lucky day. Helgemo and Helness did not get there, but Lew Finkel and Kasle did to gain 10 imps. Both pairs bid game on Vu-Graph for a flat board.

Then came an interesting competitive deal:

It is interesting that the Norwegians prefer a splinter bid to a four-club fit-showing jump, which would be the choice of many top American pairs.

Against five hearts, the defense took the first three tricks.

Against five spades, North led the club jack: king, ace, three. Now South erred, returning a low club. Franck Multon discarded his heart loser and could no longer be defeated.

Minus 50 and plus 450 gave Zimmermann 9 imps on the board.

On Vu-Graph the board was flat, five hearts doubled and down one at both tables.

The final board of the match was also very interesting.

Kasle took the low road, passing out three notrump.

Note, though, that the Norwegians had three nonforcing bids, then bid a slam! When the tray came under the screen with six diamonds on it, Helness sat back in shock. Then he passed with a shrug of his shoulders.

Ekeblad asked about the auction.

Helness replied, "Yes, two diamonds was nonforcing, and two notrump was nonforcing. Three hearts was forcing, showing a good 6-4. He could have continued with a forcing four diamonds. Perhaps he has 13 red cards."

A trump lead would have defeated the slam, but that was tough to find.

When Jansma chose a low spade, Helgemo paused for some time. Then he called for dummy's queen and, when East could not cover with the king, discarded a heart. South continued with a heart to his ace, a heart ruff with dummy's diamond six, the spade ace for a club discard, a club to his ace, a heart ruff with the diamond king, a spade trumped in his hand (West playing the king), and a heart ruffed with the diamond three. East, who knew that West had a spade left, probably should have discarded. But it would not have helped. Helgemo would have ruffed a club in his hand and taken two spades, one heart, five diamonds, one club and three ruffs in the dummy.

When East overruffed and returned a spade, declarer trumped with his diamond eight and claimed.

Minus 600 and plus 1370 gave Zimmerman 13 imps and the match by 37 imps, a 30-0 blitz.

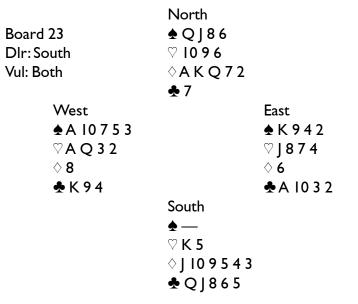

By the way, did you notice that if Helgemo had not called for the spade queen, he would have gone down? When he ruffs the third heart in the dummy, East discards and declarer has only 11 tricks.

On Vu-Graph, both Souths were in six diamonds. De Wijs, knowing South had a big red two-suiter with a spade void, found the trump lead against six diamonds. Declarer went down two.

Brink received a spade lead and called for dummy's ace. After that, declarer ruffed the first heart low, the second high and the third low. De Knijff defended perfectly, not overruffing the third heart and taking the contract down one.

So Brink gained 3 imps and won the match by 7 imps or 20-10 in vps.

This was the best board of the third match:

West Demirev	North Zimmermann	East Bramley	South Multon
2 3 3 .		2	Pass
I♠	Pass	2NT (a)	3NT
4♠	5♦	Pass	Pass

West	North	East	South
Bessis T.	Zagorin	Bessis M.	Bathurst
			Pass
I♠	Pass	3♣ (a)	Pass
4♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

(a) Usually Four-plus spades, game invitational

Despite the equal vulnerability, Multon decided to show his minor two-suiter. Now it was easy for Zimmermann to sacrifice in five diamonds, going down one.

Against four spades, Daniel Zagorin (North) led the diamond ace and continued with a second diamond, Thomas Bessis (West) ruffing in the dummy and discarding a club from his hand. Then declarer played a low spade to his ace, getting the bad news. But he led a club to dummy's ace, played a heart to his queen and cashed the heart ace. When the king dropped, West played on trumps to end with an overtrick.

Minus 200 and plus 650 gave Zimmermann 10 imps, but the match ended in an exact tie.

An Ending to Forget

By Sam Leckie

There is no doubt that the best player to come out of Scotland is Michael Rosenberg. It is a fact that after having played tournament bridge for a few months he was capped for Scotland, a feat that took me 13 years to achieve. When I look back on my bridge career, I suppose I reached my peak in 1970 when I represented Great Britain on two separate occasions. The first was the European Championship in Norway and the other was in the World Pairs in France. This latter occasion had an amusing ending. Great Britain had to nominate 5 pairs for the event and the British Bridge League allowed the Scottish Bridge Union to nominate a pair. At that time the late Victor Goldberg and I were flavor of the month and were chosen.

This was a great honour in itself, but the fact that the other 4 pairs were Reese/Flint, Konstam/Dodds, Rose/Gardener and Preston/Swimer. All world-class pairs made it even more prestigious.

In the event itself, we had a great first session but unlike these days the results did not appear till the following morning. After a restless night I was up bright and early and headed to the venue to find out where we were placed. The results were posted on a huge board above the entrance hall. I was right about our performance, as we were lying fifth, well ahead of our teammates. As I basked in my moment of glory, Terence Reese and one of the organizers came in chatting and stood beside me, also studying the results. At one point the organizer turned to Reese and said, "Leckie-Goldberg in 5th place - I don't know them." After a few seconds delay, Reese replied, "I think their Polish."

John Roberts Teams — Second Session

In Round 5, there were two nine-card heart suits. But, strangely, neither deal was particularly interesting. In Round 6, though, there was a nice piece of bidding by Helgemo and Helness.

Helgemo started with a four-diamond splinter bid. Then, after Helness, unable to visualize a slam opposite a passed partner, signed off in four hearts, Helgemo was still there, control-bidding four spades. Now judging matters well, Helness jumped to six hearts.

As you can see, the play was not taxing, and it was another 13 imps to Zimmermann.

Leckie asked around and could not find another pair who got to six hearts.
